ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS & THANKS FOR PART 1

History is a network, and I have learned from all of these people through conversations, letters, e-mails, scrap-books, notes, and unpublished talks and articles. There will be others whose names have unfortunately slipped through my filing system and patchy memory, but I owe thanks to them also. Where possible, I have checked their information; the responsibility for any errors is mine.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS & THANKS FOR PART 2

It is impossible to mention all who have helped in the writing of this section of Steadfast Through Change. It could be said that even the writer's old school teachers who instilled in her a love of history and writing need to be acknowledged, but simply put the following acknowledgements pertain solely to this section of the book and the writer apologises most sincerely if someone has been omitted. There could be some consolation as written in a line from Robert Browning's poem 'The Patriot', "'Tis God shall repay: I am safer so".

"If we don't learn from the past there's no hope for the future."

While recording this history it has not been possible to mention all the servants by name, or all of the past activities, and I seek reader's indulgence and understanding if I have omitted something important to you, or misinterpreted a minute book.

I give thanks for those ministers and local preachers, who through the years have ministered to the Highton congregations. To the faithful office bearers, organists, singers and all who have contributed to the worship; to the dedicated and energetic men and women who have established, maintained and beautified the sanctuary and those who have worked in all the diverse activities of the church. Many are unknown to us, are known to God, and all have their reward

Grateful Thanks to the Following People

St Luke's Church Council & the Resources Ministry Team: For support and for showing confidence in our ability to complete this history. Also thanks for making funds available for computer related expenses during the preparation period.

I am also indebted to the following people for contributing their knowledge and experiences. Thank you for the research, advice, the stories, photos and information describing the collection of people, places and events that have become the history of St. Luke's.
